NEWS RELEASE - FOR SUNDAY MAIL

FROM: THE ROAD SAFETY COUNCIL OF S.A.

SUBJECT: ROAD ACCIDENT FIGURES FOR JULY.

Adelaide's two largest hospitals, the Royal Adelaide and the Queen Elizabeth treated 571 road accident victims in July.

More than 50% were under 25 years of age.

These figures were released today by the Road Safety Council of South Australia.

For the first time, road accident figures were made available from the Adelaide Children's Hospital.

The figures show that 49 children were treated at the Children's Hospital following road accidents and 27 were later admitted for further care.

Thirty-seven or 75% were under 10 years of age.
